understanding behavioral individuality

FAQs | Parenting | Assessment | Providers

Welcome To temperament .com ....

Temperament.com is about behavioral individuality in infants, children and adults. Just as babies are born with their own combination of physical characteristics such as hair and eye color, skin tone, and physique, behavioral scientists know that each one has patterns of behavior, or temperament, that are also part of their uniqueness.

Temperament as defined here refers to .... more »

NEW BOOK FOR PROFESSIONALS!

THE TEMPERAMENT PERSPECTIVE:

WORKING WITH CHILDREN'S BEHAVIORAL STYLES

BY

Jan Kristal

Required reading for everyone who has any influence on the lives of individual children. . . Jan Kristal is a genius, in my opinion, when it comes to temperament issues in children.

Elaine Aron, PhD, Author of The Highly Sensitive Person and *The Highly Sensitive Child

Presents clear and practical suggestions on how to recognize and manage children's challenging temperament differences.

William B. Carey, MD, The Children's Hospital of Philadelphia; co-author of Coping with Children's Temperament and Understanding Your Child's Temperament .

Well researched, thought provoking, and delightfully readable.

Mary Sheedy Kurcinka, MA, author of *Raising Your Spirited Child

Weaving in Jan Kristal's research and clinical experience with hundreds of children at Kaiser Permanente's Temperament Program and in her private practice, this book has the practical guidance professionals need to transform knowledge of temperament into positive interactions and better outcomes. Readers will examine how temperament traits combine to affect children's behavior; how behavior patterns and temperaments typically manifest in infants, toddlers, preschoolers, and school-age children; and how environmental factors affect temperament in child care, school, home, health care, and mental health settings. Throughout the book, lively case studies, helpful tips, and practical guidelines show readers how to:

- address specific behavior challenges such as aggression, shyness, and noncompliance
- adapt environments and adjust learning tasks with sensitivity to individual temperaments
- help children develop peer relationships
- nurture each child's self-esteem
- encourage children to learn self-management skills
- work with parents to help them understand their child and address his or her challenges
- decide when to seek outside help for a child.

Based on the landmark work of Stella Chess and Alexander Thomas, this book will help a broad range of professionals improve interactions by working with each child's individual temperament.

THE BASICS BEHAVIORAL ADJUSTMENT SCALE

BBAS Practice Set

BBAS Questionnaire

BBAS Profile Sheet

Although temperament is an important dimension of behavior and personality, professionals working with children often need to determine whether there are adjustment issues other than temperament-environment ones. Does the child's behavior fall within the normal range, or is adjustment is either poor or above average? BBAS assesses behavioral adjustment apart from normal temperament variations. It was designed to avoid some of the problems of commonly used scales currently in use with children, such as lack of focus on behavioral assets and tendency to be too global or have too many items. The BBAS is 48 item parent report questionnaire that determines behavioral adjustment in 4 to 14 year old children. Behavioral adjustment is defined by 5 areas of functioning:

- Behavior in social relationships (parents, sibs, teachers, etc);
- Achievement (schoolwork, homework, chores, hobbies);
- Self-Relations (self-esteem, self-care, self-regulation);
- Internal State (contentment, anxiety, mood, thought processes);
- Coping (identifying, solving, persisting, etc);
- Symptoms (eating, sleeping, elimination, etc).

BBAS separates behavior from temperament and identifies strengths as well as problem areas.

BBAS functions as:

- A behavioral inventory of personal strengths and weaknesses
- A comprehensive review of environmental stressors and assets
- A "symptom" checklist in special behavioral areas
- A "datacatcher" for mental health history in biological relatives
- A behavioral rating scale of specific aspects of current adjustment
- A norm referenced test of behavioral adjustment in 5 important areas

BBAS Online Scoring Report

The internet scoring version of BBAS (iBBAS) utilizes the web for scoring the questionnaire and generates a written report that displays the scores and organizes the results. Users need an internet connection and a valid email address to implement this option.

Online scoring is accomplished by logging in to an internet page and entering the BBAS ratings from the BBAS questionnaire. The scoring program generates a 3 page report which summarizes the caregiver's responses into a visually appealing and clinically useful document in html format. An email notifies the professional of the confirmation number of the report which can be accessed on the web for one year following the date of scoring. The report document can be printed in color or b/w, posted on the internet or emailed to the caregiver or another professional for easy viewing in a standard web browser. The html file can also be saved on the professional's own computer using the simple instructions provided.

Valid email address required so confirmation numbers can be forwarded.

VERSION 6: CAREY TEMPERAMENT SCALES REPORT WRITER SOFTWARE ON CD

SELECT, SCORE, SHARE!

Based on the internet Report Writer technology, the new CTS Version 6 software scores any of the five CTS questionnaires and generates 2 attractive temperament reports, one for the professional and one for the caregiver. The software comes in 3 versions, PC, Mac OSX and Mac OS9. It is available in 25 or 100 use versions on CD. Both temperament reports include a temperament profile and interpretations of temperament characteristics. The caregiver report is personalized for age and gender of the child and uses the youngster's first name in behavioral descriptions. The professional report includes validity checks for missing data, social desirability and ratings/perceptions discrepancies.

Like the iReport Writer, the Version 6 software creates the reports in html format so they can be displayed in any standard internet browser, such as Internet Explorer or Netscape. Thus, report files are easily shared and can be emailed to the caregiver or other professionals. Sample reports used for instructional purposes can be easily posted on the web!

CTS V6 software comes in several product combinations: Professional Practice Sets with the CTS Test Manual and User's Guide and CTS questionnaires; with the CD and CTS questionnaires; or just as CDs for users who already have the manual and paper questionnaires. Software uses are registered to a single computer. Purchase of additional registration numbers allows software uses to be registered to additional computers, or when uses are exhausted the CD can be renewed again with a new refill registration number.

CTS iREPORT WRITER SOFTWARE: ONLINE SCORING & INTERPRETATION

The CTS iReport Writer software scores and interprets any of the five Carey Temperament Scales right from your browser, using any internet connection. Scoring programs on the B-DI server can be accessed from anywhere, home, office, even when travelling to conferences or meetings!

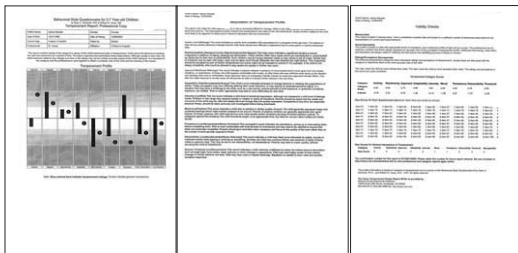

The process is simple:

1. Working from a standard web browser such as Internet Explorer on any PC or Mac computer with an internet connection, simply login to the scoring site using a username and password supplied with your purchase.
2. Select the Carey Temperament Scales questionnaire you wish to score and the questionnaire appears on the screen for data input.
3. Enter the information and scores from any CTS questionnaire. When finished, click "Process Questionnaire" and the Professional Report appears, ready to print. Click a link at the bottom and the Caregiver report appears.

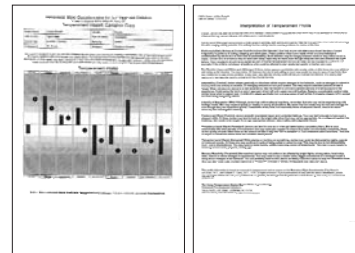

Reports can be retrieved from the B-DI server at any time for up to one year later using a confirmation code printed on the Professional report.

SPECIAL iREPORT WRITER PRINTING FUNCTION

Professional Report

Caregiver Report

Professional and Caregiver reports are generated with each iReport Writer use. The reports include a temperament profile and individualized interpretation of status on each of the nine NYLS dimensions. The Professional report contains validity information such as social desirability and discrepancy ratings as well as raw scores and zscores for each area. The interpretation section of the Caregiver report is individualized by gender and uses the child's first name.

For previous purchasers of CTS questionnaires, scoring can be upgraded to internet scoring by purchasing just the internet scoring uses.

THE NYLS ADULT TEMPERAMENT QUESTIONNAIRE (ATQ)

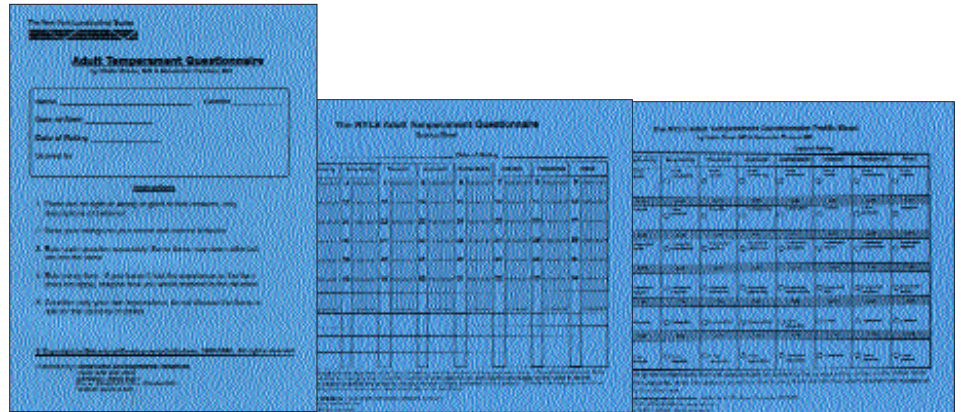

by Stella Chess MD & Alexander Thomas MD

Assess adult-child temperament interaction

Adult temperament characteristics can now be assessed with the NYLS Adult Temperament Questionnaire. This 54 item self report questionnaire is easily administered and scored using the profile and scoring sheets included with the set. Or, with available software, the ATQ can be administered to the subject on the computer without a paper questionnaire! With one simple command, a complete individualized temperament profile and report can be generated in just a few seconds! Validity checks on ratings allow assessment of self awareness and social desirability factors that may be present with self report data.

ATQ Test Manual & User's Guide

ATQ Questionnaire with scoring and profile sheet

The ATQ is based on the same 9 temperament dimensions used in the Carey Temperament Scales, allowing determination of similarity in temperament between parent and child. Based on data generated from the original NYLS sample, the ATQ measures temperament in adults up to 40 years of age, as defined by the investigators in the seminal New York Longitudinal Study. Questionnaire items are randomized by scale and half of the items are reverse-scored to minimize rater bias. The Test Manual includes new statistical analyses and factor analysis of questionnaire categories. The appendix lists the original 140 questionnaire items used with adults in the NYLS research.

The ATQ has a new, easier-to-use scoring technique which reduces scoring time to about 5 minutes. Software includes administration of questionnaire items on a computer screen in about 10 minutes or scoring of the results of a paper questionnaire in 2-3 minutes.

ATQ iREPORT WRITER

The ATQ iReport Writer allows the professional to administer and score the ATQ questionnaire online. Questionnaire results can be input online by the professional or a clerical assistant and reports viewed instantly over the internet. Paper copies can be obtained immediately by printing from the internet browser.

Each Professional Practice Set includes the ATQ Test Manual, User's Guide and questionnaires for use with adult clients. Requiring only an email account and internet access with a standard browser, the iReport Writer allows web-based scoring and interpretation of the ATQ with reports archived in an html format. An email with the report confirmation number is sent to the professional within seconds of completion! Individual user name and password are provided to log into a protected area containing the questionnaire input. Results can also be saved in a text file on the user's computer following simple instructions provided. Copies of ATQ reports are also archived for one year in html format for documentation and viewing in a browser program. Reports can be retrieved at any time and pasted into a word processing text file for permanent documentation, editing or viewing in a browser window.

THE TEMPERAMENT GUIDES, VOLUMES I & II

BY CATHERINE J. "KATE" ANDERSEN, MEd

Temperament research translated into practical manuals for helping children & families!

Rich in content, and written specifically for professionals working with children and families The Temperament Guides, Volumes I & II address issues encountered by members of many disciplines who are in direct contact with clients experiencing real problems in behavior.

HIGHLIGHTS OF VOLUME I:

- Illustrates temperament-focused intervention through two actual case studies.
- Provides an effective, temperament-based program ("Your Individual Child") .
- Looks systematically at behavioral issues related to each of the NYLS temperamental characteristics.
- Examines the role of temperament in the 10 most common childhood behavioral problems.
- Introduces intervention techniques such as scaffolding and planned reduction that address problem behavior.
- Includes 40 reproducible parent education handouts for use in early intervention.

HIGHLIGHTS OF VOLUME II:

- A practical workbook: understand and cope with the temperament of a 2 to 12 child.
- Offers a step-by-step approach for learning new and positive ways of responding to temperament related behavior and mild behavior problems.
- Can be used as back-up material for families undertaking a program of individualized temperament guidance.
- Suitable for professionals who are seeking additional material to supplement the principles and practices outlined in the first volume.
- Over 40 new exercises have been developed for this workbook.

Kate Andersen is a Canadian educator and early intervention trainer. She teaches courses in family centered practice and early intervention at the University of British Columbia, Canada, and has been a distance education instructor for the School of Child and Youth Care, University of Victoria, Canada. For the past twenty years, Kate has been helping families, early interventionists and teachers deal with a wide range of difficulties in their children from allergies, difficult temperament, attention deficits to myalgic encephalomyelitis, and chronic fatigue syndrome. She is an experienced and acclaimed educator who has delivered countless workshops and courses for parents and early intervention professionals, many of them focusing on the needs of 'high maintenance' children.

UNDERSTANDING YOUR CHILD'S TEMPERAMENT.

NEW EDITION!!

BY WILLIAM B. CAREY, MD

WITH MARTHA JABLOW.

Written for parents and professionals by one of the foremost experts in the field, this is a comprehensive guide for caregivers who are challenged by a temperamentally 'difficult' child. This book educates and informs the average reader about temperament and gives practical advice about how to 1) understand behavioral style in infants and children, and 2) address concerns about behavior. It also contains an informative list of resources for parents who need support and guidance.

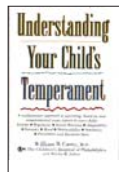

"(Dr. Carey) explains what temperament is, why it is significant, and how it affects both children and parents. He shows parents how to recognize and handle a range of different--yet normal--temperament styles. Perhaps more important, he offers solid suggestions for working effectively and harmoniously with a child's inborn temperament."

-C. Everett Koop, MD

COPING WITH CHILDREN'S TEMPERAMENT: A GUIDE FOR PROFESSIONALS

NOW IN ITS SECOND PRINTING!

"A great book, perhaps a classic, and a major contribution to the field. Carey and McDevitt provide a practical yet rigorous approach to childhood function that sidesteps our obsession with pathology and allows professionals to think in a way that is both clinically and ethically more justifiable.

Mel Levine, MD
